BRITISH JOURNALIST KILLED

MR. PEMBROKE STEPHENS VICTIM OF MACHINE- GUN BULLETS

HUNGARIAN AND FRENCHMAN SENT TO HOSPITAL

TRAGIC INCIDENT IN FRENCH CONCESSION

Shanghai, November 11: Mr. Pembroke Stephens, "Daily Telegraph" correspondent, who is in North China "covering" the Sino-Japanese conflict, was killed by machine-gun bullets while observing the hostilities in Nantao from a vantage point in the French Concession. Mr. Stephens was standing on the platform of a water tower in Siccawei Creek with a Frenchman, Dr. A. Richer, and six others, when a Japanese machine-gun opened fire. All the party lay down flat. Mr. Stephens was struck in the leg and said to Dr. Richer, "I have been hit." Then another bullet struck the British newspaper correspondent in the head. Dr. Richer spoke to him but he did not reply.

Two others, a Hungarian, named A. L. Thursvansky and a Frenchman, M. P. Ametier, both employees of the French Tramways, who were in the party were also hit, one in the thigh and the other in the back. Thursvansky and Ametier were removed to hospital.

Interviewed by Reuter, Dr. Richer said, "The Japanese machine-gunners obviously mistook us for a Chinese post owing to the angle of the Creek and the fact that we had no flag."

The death of Mr. Pembroke Stephens has profoundly shocked newspapermen in Shanghai who considered him a fine example of British journalism. No risk was too great for him to take to "cover" the war.

Eye-witnesses of the water tower incident state that one of the men on the platform waved a friendly greeting to the Japanese machine-gun crew. The Japanese apparently thought some one was signalling to Chinese troops from the Chinese post and therefore opened fire.

A Japanese Army spokesman has admitted that Japanese machine-gun bullets killed Mr. Stephens, and said that an official investigation carried out on the spot established that the machine-gunners had been responsible for firing on Chinese snipers on roof tops on the Chinese side of Siccawei Creek.

The spokesman expressed deep personal regrets over the incident.—Reuter.

Shanghai, November 11: After day long intensive bombing and shelling the Japanese to-night are virtual masters of Nantao. Several thousand Chinese troops have already laid down their arms and entered the French Concession to be interned for the duration of the hostilities. Others are still resisting but they are gradually being surrounded by a large force of Japanese troops who crossed Siccawei Creek under a smoke screen. Meanwhile, the Japanese have set afire all junks and other craft afloat in the boom which is slowly burning to the water's edge. This fire is one of scores fiercely blazing in Nantao and Pootung lighting up the entire south and south-eastern horizon of Shanghai.—Reuter.

ROOSEVELT WILL BALANCE U.S. BUDGET

New York, Nov. 11: The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, stated that President Roosevelt had resolved to balance the budget for next year not by increasing the taxes but by cutting in the expenditure. It is estimated that the cut will be $659,000,000 without weakening the national defence. More will be spent on relief, agriculture and highways. Mr. Morgenthau added that the basic need of the country was to foster a driving force of private capital.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

Nanking On Japan's Black List

Belgrade, Nov. 11: The hope that Jugo-Slavia would join the Anti-Comintern Pact was expressed by the Japanese Minister, Mr. Kurihara, who declared he believed there would soon be a change of government in China, adding that if not Japan would take Nanking and change the government forcibly. The Jugo-Slav Government declined to make a statement respecting this until the question actually arose, but it is generally believed that the Jugo-Slav reply to any suggestion that they should join the pact would be in the negative.—Reuter.

AIR RAID ALARM IN TOKYO

Western Japan Startled

Tokyo, Nov. 11: It is revealed that an air raid alarm startled western Japan shortly after noon to-day, and was maintained until 5 p.m. The sequel to this report is that three Chinese Northrop planes passed over the Yangtze estuary about 10.30 in the morning heading eastward, of which two were brought down by Japanese planes in the neighbourhood of the Saddle Islands, but the third escaped and continued to Japan. The lone adventurer was eventually overtaken and "destroyed," with the result that the all-clear signal was sounded at 5 p.m.—Reuter.

SPANISH WAR FRONT

Salamanca, Nov. 11: An insurgent communiqué states that the Spanish Government offensive on the Aragon front was repulsed. All was quiet on the other sectors.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

LANDSLIDE BURIES FOUR HUNDRED

Tokyo, Nov. 11: Owing to a landslide on the Komehaseyama Mountain, which borders the Nagano and Gumma prefectures in Central Japan, 400 copper miners were buried in the Katsuma Mine. Rescue parties are hurrying to the scene, but it is feared that the casualties are heavy.—Reuter.

ARMISTICE DAY IN HONG KONG

Impressive Ceremonial At The Cenotaph

A cool north-westerly breeze blowing across the harbour tempered the warm November sun which beat down upon the surried crowd, ten deep in some places, which had gathered in every point of vantage around the Cenotaph yesterday to pay homage to those sons of the Empire who had paid the supreme sacrifice in the World War.

Armistice Day! As one watched the polyglot crowd, European social celebrities standing cheek by jowl with ill-clad ricksha pullers, one instinctively guessed the thoughts of most people. The expressions on the faces left no room for doubt as to that. Here was an old lady in full mourning. As the bugles sounded the Last Post she buried her face in her handkerchief and wept for an only son who lay at rest "somewhere in France." A few yards further a group of young people watched the military display and the glittering uniforms with undisguised admiration. They were too young to remember the event they had come to help commemorate and the tragedy which this day had climaxed 19 years ago.

The "war to end wars" it was said then! Even as the naval gun sounded to mark the beginning of the two minutes' silence, hundreds of other guns were thundering elsewhere and thousands of human souls were being torn to bits by metal! These were the thoughts that passed through one's mind as one watched the impressive ceremony yesterday at the Cenotaph. Most of the great allied nations were represented, the Italians having a place of honour among the Governor's party, being represented by two naval officers.

PRESS CENSORSHIP IN PEIPING

Peiping, Nov. 11.
The Peking Peace Maintenance Commission has promulgated a set of 22 regulations governing the censorship of newspapers and news agencies. The regulations are to be administered by a special bureau headed by a Chinese director, who will be assisted by a Japanese adviser. The regulations are at present limited to Chinese concerns, but may later be extended to foreign firms.—Reuter.

"DOWN WITH WAR; STOP ALL THIS HYPOCRISY!"

Man's Shout Breaks Silence At Whitehall

KING UNMOVED BY INCIDENT

London, Nov. 11: Despite the passing of years Armistice Day has still kept the same reverence throughout the Empire as in earlier years of the observance.

For the first time in his reign, King George VI was the central figure at the Cenotaph ceremony in Whitehall where his Majesty accompanied by his younger brothers, the Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kent placed wreaths at the foot of the Cenotaph and also at the Earl Haig Statue.

The Queen, Queen Mary and other ladies of the Royal Family watched the ceremony from windows of the Home Office. The King wore the khaki uniform of Field-Marshal. The Queen was dressed in black and wore a bunch of Flanders poppies. Before leaving Buckingham Palace their Majesties purchased poppies from a lady seller.

Women, wearing the medals of their fathers, husbands and sons predominated the huge congregation at the Cenotaph where the solemnity of the Two Minutes' silence was broken by a man shouting "Down with war, with war," stop all this hypocrisy. Police grappled with the man who was held to the ground until the conclusion of the Silence when he was removed to the police station.

The King stood unmoved during the incident while the vast crowd stood in silence but subsequently gave vent to their feelings that police reinforcements were necessary to protect the man from the anger of the crowd.

The Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. W. G. A. Ormsby Gore, laid a wreath at the Cenotaph consisting of representative plants of the Colonies and Dependencies.

Their Majesties, the King and Queen, will attend a festival of remembrance in the Albert Hall this evening while the Princess Royal will speak lines from Lawrence Binyon's "To the fallen" at a festival of remembrance in Edinburgh.—Reuter.

The last to arrive before the gubernatorial party were the choir in caps and surplices followed by the clergy. Shortly before 11 a.m. His Excellency Sir Geoffrey Northcote arrived, attended by senior officers of the Navy, Army and Air Force, members of the Executive and Legislative Council in full ceremonial dress, and heads of Government Departments.

A TYPICAL SCENE

It was a typical Armistice scene. To those who had been through the great armageddon—and there were many there—the ceremony recalled an unforgettable tragedy; to those who were there to mourn dear ones it was a bitter remembrance; but to the vast majority of that assembly—the post-war generation—it was mostly an inspiring and impressive sight—one calculated to stir deeply the spirit of loyalty to the Throne and the consciousness of membership of a great heritage of Empire.

The usual ceremony was gone through—the two minutes' silence, the Last Post, the singing of the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," the more cheery notes of the "Reveille," the playing of the National Anthem and finally the laying of the wreaths, the Governor leading.

Detachments totalling 462 individuals, were present:—Royal Navy and Royal Marines, Hong Kong Volunteer Force, Army, Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, Royal Air Force, Merchant Navy, British Legion, Royal Artillery Association, Royal Engineers Old Comrades' Association, Foreign Armies and Navies, Consular Services, St. John Ambulance Brigade, Boy Scouts' Association, Girl Guides' Association.

Units of the Garrison represented were: 8th Heavy Brigade, R.A., 5th Anti-Aircraft Brigade, R.A., Royal Engineers, Corps of Signals, 2nd Bn. Royal Welch Fusiliers, 1st Bn. The Middlesex Regt., 1st Bn. Seaforth Highlanders, 1st Bn. Royal Ulster Rifles, Hong Kong Brigade, H.K.S.R.A., Royal Army Service Corps, Royal Army Medical Corps, Royal Army Ordnance Corps, Royal Army Pay Corps, 5/6th Rajputana Rifles, 1st Bn. The Kumaon Rifles, Hong Kong Mule Corps, R.I.A.S.C.

CATHEDRAL SERVICE

A special Communion Service was held at 8 a.m. in the Cathedral.

Following the service, which was conducted by Rev. H. W. Baines, Captain H. S. P. Hopkinson, representing the Army, and Paymaster Lt. F. V. Harrison, representing the Navy, placed a wreath in the form of a cross and made of red poppies, on the Cathedral Memorial Cross outside the church.

The procession, headed by the choir, filed from the Cathedral as the last hymn was being sung and as the last verse was played and the Choir and congregation stood round the memorial, the wreath was laid at the base of the cross.

THE WREATHS

Among the wreaths laid at the Cenotaph were those from the following: The Governor; Commander-in-Chief, Officers and men of the China Fleet and Establishment at Hong Kong; General Officer Commanding, Officers and other Ranks, China Command; the Royal Air Force; R.N. Lepanto; U.S.S. Sacramento; Chinese Unofficial Members of the Executive and Legislative Council; Consular Body; British Legion, Hong Kong and China Branch, Royal Artillery Association; London Scottish Old Comrades Association, Hong Kong.

Sassoon Banking Company; President and Members of the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders; Russian Orthodox Community; Canada (Major V. E. Duclos); Japanese Residents' Association; Hong Kong Cricket Club; Committee and Members of the Hong Kong Club; Boys Scouts; Chieftains' Committee and Members, Hong Kong St. Andrew's Society; President and Members of the St. Patrick's Society, Hong Kong; and Molly, Mag and Dad from Betty and Harry.

CHINESE MEMORIAL ARCH

After the Cenotaph ceremony His Excellency the Governor and staff and members of the Executive and Legislative Councils assembled at Government House from where they proceeded to the Chinese Memorial Arch, Botanical Gardens, where wreaths were laid by His Excellency Sir Geoffrey Northcote, Major General Bartholomew, the Commanders in Charge, Hong Kong, the Officer Commanding the Royal Air Force, the Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North, and the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall.

Chinese Members of Councils, Chinese Representatives of the Urban Council, Mr. Lo Wing-ki (Tung Wah Hospital), Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam (Po Leung Kuk), Mr. Li Sing-kue (Chinese Chamber of Commerce), Mr. Ts'ao Tsun-on (Police Reserve, Chinese Company), the Chinese Unofficial Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils, District Watch Committee and the St. John Ambulance Association also laid wreaths.

The following were among those who attended the Ceremony: Rt. Rev. Bishop H. Valtorta, Rev. Fr. Gallagher, Father Biganti, Mr. Chau Sik-nin, Mr. B. Wong-tape, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, O.B.E., Mr. Chou Sul-ng and Mr. Wong Mow-lum.

Besides members of the Chinese Company of the Hong Kong Police Reserve who were lined up on the steps leading to the Memorial, a body of Chinese Ratings of the Royal Navy, a detachment from the H.K. Naval Volunteer Force, a body from the Chinese Section of the 40th Fortress Royal Engineers, a detachment of District Watchmen under Inspector Ellis, and a representative party of Boy Scouts were on parade behind the Arch.

SANCTITY OF MEMORIES

At the St. Joseph's Catholic Church yesterday, the Rev. Fr. Driscoll, Naval Chaplain, gave a very impressive sermon on the "Sanctity of Memories," during which he pointed out that memories are neither about vanished dreams nor lost happiness, but tell us of something that remains, and of the treasures kept by a faithful friend—God.

The Church was full, there being a large number of sailors and school children. His Lordship, Mgr. Valtorta, the Catholic Bishop, was also present.

The preacher, in the course of his sermon, said:

"The Great War now seems but long ago. How many know aught of it. To these it is as the Boer War, the Russian War, as the Battles of the Napoleonic Wars. The 'young' generation in the Twentieth Century know little save the loss of relations. Still to-day memories live.

"There is something precious about memories, but we misuse them. We weave the golden dreams to gild the dull present, to console ourselves, even to take an odd pleasure in regretting our past failures. We use our memories as we like, without any responsibility to anyone. This is very human and natural, but misleading, as it omits the spiritual side of us.

QUARRELSOME HUMAN RACE

"God owns all things. With Him 1,000 years is a day and vice-versa. All His past, present and future cannot be cast out. Memories without Him are foolish. All we say, think or do are, and have been, done in His sight, with the gifts of life and talents given us by Him and sustained by Him.

"Everlastingly, without a beginning. He saw, rather sees, all things, and in due time we appear and acted as He always foresaw we would. Who then are we to look back on our past, to muse over our memories alone, forgetting God who sustained us through them all.

"The thoughts of our past should bring home to us God and His goodness. Such knowledge should ennoble the past, for how can we 'stumble' by the side of God, and in His sight, and not reflect the divine nobility? How else can it be that all tradition, all fidelity, all self-sacrifice, seem so dignified, and qualities of race, family and country?"

How to get rid of Disfiguring Blemishes

How much younger would you look and feel if your skin was clear and entirely free from blemish?

Pimples, spots, blackheads, enlarged pores, burning irritations and ugly complexion defects are woman's most common "aging" enemies. To all who suffer, Cuticura presents the most simple and effective way to clear the skin.

Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant, mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dust and grime which develop blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects. And to rid the skin of pimples, outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin.

Try this treatment to-day, see how your skin begins to look clearer and fresher; your complexion smoother, lovelier, more attractive than ever before.

Cuticura For Clear Healthy Skin

Sold by all Chemists and Stores. Ask for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. And for powder use Cuticura Talcum—exceptionally fine and pure, exquisitely perfumed.

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

Fr. Driscoll then spoke of the Far East Conflict and of "unarmed China against a ruthless war-machine."

Continuing, the preacher said: "The human race has always to be absorbed in memories centred around war, and God, the God of peace, has never forsaken our quarrelsome human race in disgust. Once He repented of His work and wiped it out.

NOT VANISHED DREAMS

"Scientists now ponder over the signs of the Flood. When Christ came He submitted to crucifixion to show His inexhaustible patience. Hence memories are not about vanished dreams, or lost happiness, but they tell us of something that remains, and of the treasures kept by a faithful friend—God.

"Hence, if we live with Him in our thoughts, nothing is lost. He forgets the forgiven mistakes. He treasures all our good deeds, even a 'glass of water.' We then think of all the departed on this everlasting-mind of God.

"To-day, when memories are fainter, or perhaps to-day is an occasion for each to recall the past and how we walked with God, we ought to realise the present and decide that we walk with Him in all nobility, and to remember that, without God, we step aside from the bright journey of life into the exterior darkness."

After the service the "National Anthem" was sung.

AT ST. ANDREW'S

A short but most impressive Service of Remembrance was held at the St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning conducted by the Rev. J. R. Higgs. The choir was in attendance and Mr. Baldwin was at the organ.

The service commenced at 10.40 a.m. with the singing of hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past." This was followed by prayer and the reading of the lesson taken from the Book of Revelations. The singing of the hymn "O Valiant Hearts" was interspersed by the observance of the Two Minutes Silence during which time the vicar remained at the Altar. The service concluded with the blessing.

Ovaltine for Energy

says Muriel Angelus

Like so many "stars" of stage and screen, Muriel Angelus is enthusiastic in her praise of 'Ovaltine'. She writes:—"I would like to let you know that I have tried many things in the endeavour to get rid of that feeling of utter exhaustion after a long and tiring day at the theatre. I have found 'Ovaltine' to be the only thing that gives one the necessary energy to carry on. Its reviving and refreshing effects are marvellous."

Radiant vitality, healthy nerves, sound sleep every night—'Ovaltine' ensures them all. It is a scientifically perfect food supremely rich in all the nutritive elements needed to build up body, brain and nerves.

Remember—there is nothing "just as good" as 'Ovaltine'. Imitations may look the same, but there are very important differences. For quality and health-giving value, 'Ovaltine' stands in a class by itself. Make it your regular daytime and bedtime beverage.

I like 'Mansion'

-it needs so little rubbing

ONE of the most pleasing things about 'MANSION' is the quickness with which it gives such a brilliant polish. It has reduced the need of rubbing to a minimum—in a few seconds a hard, lasting brilliancy to floors and furniture is obtained. And as it gives the beautiful finish 'MANSION' leaves a fresh, clean, germ-free surface that means a brighter and healthier home.

LONDON FASHIONS Gloves And Scarves

Coloured gloves are still in fashion, and no attempt is made to match them with any other accessory except, perhaps, a handkerchief or buttonhole. A new pig-skin leather colour looks well for sports wear, and lighter weight gloves in suede or kid of the same shade go well with black. A reddish wine colour is also good with black, and for navy and grey there is a soft, bright blue. In all these shades there are short kid and antepe gloves, barely wrist-length, with a very little detailed stitching on the back of the hand. These short gloves are both practical and neat when the palm is made of kid and the back of the duller skins.

Fabric gloves looking like suede are soft and pleasant, they are very different from the hard, clumsy materials of a few seasons ago. In the same short, slip-on styles they may be had in shades of autumn tweeds. Woollen fabrics in gay checks and stripes make gloves and scarves which match one another. A set in "ocean-blue," rust, and hunter's-green goes with a suit of red-brown tweed. Wine, cyclamen, and a vivid shade of gentian-blue in a striped material look well with a suit of rough grey frieze. Practical gloves of peccary, reindeer, and heavy kid are often in two colours, such as wine-brown or grey-green backs with beige palms, and navy or brown backs with dark red palms. Hand-crocheted gloves of thick cotton thread are made in neutral shades with leather palms to match—in vivid colours and in brown and navy, these gloves are comfortable for travel wear.

Afternoon pull-on gloves, wrist-length and plain, with no veining or stitching, are made of fine suede in dark shades, and a tiny coloured handkerchief may be tucked into the wrist. Where stitching is used for decoration it is in the form of diagonal rows in three contrasting colours on black, navy, or nigger-brown suede. A black antelope model has a plaited thong of strips of coloured leather in blue, green, and yellow, which holds back the cuff. Another black suede glove is trimmed with small patent leather circles on the back of the hand. Short gloves for formal afternoon wear are of fine suede in pastel colouring, often in two tones. A glove in flesh-pink suede has a side gusset of deep coral and a coral fastening. Another in pale lavender-blue has a turned-back cuff in a slightly deeper tone.

For evening wear there are long gloves made of the same lamés and multi-coloured brocades as the dresses with which they are worn. Velvet and silk dress-maker gloves are embroidered in metal thread or in self-coloured sequins. A novelty also is an elbow-length glove hand-crocheted in fine gold thread.

Scarves for sports wear complete the cleverly blended colour schemes of the autumn tweeds. In "superfine" hand-woven wool, they are in small all-over designs or in large geometric patterns. Squares, printed with labels of famous European hotels, or with the names of well-known restaurants of the principal cities, are meant for travellers. Coloured maps are also used on printed silk squares. Heavy foulard and tie silks make scarves in rich colours, with small conventional designs which may be worn cravat-wise, or knotted like a man's tie. There is even a scarf printed with the portraits of film favourites, whose names are shown in little red stars.

A black hat in black felt, with twisted band of emerald green velvet matching butterfly bow scarf.

WAYS WITH MUSLIN

A PELMET

The vogue for Regency and Early Victorian fashions is bringing back muslin to the home, whence it was all but banished by William Morris and his following. It comes back, of course, in ways that suit modern decoration and fit with modern invention.

Muslin, for example, is used with delightful effect for the newest electric lamp shades, but it is treated with the utmost austerity here. No pleating, drawing, or frilling is permitted. The muslin may be spotted, striped, or checked in all-white, but the material is stiffly starched and polished as highly as a man's stiff collar before it is stretched over a thin white lining, and bound top and bottom with a white braid or white velvet ribbon. It looks, indeed, almost like muslin under a sheet of cellulose paper.

Another way with muslin is to make narrow lengths of it serve as an amusing peltet, with a Regency air, about it, to go with curtains of the same material. To get this effect all you have to do is to wind a length of it in loops at regular intervals round and along a curtain rod or wire. If you like you can have two lengths to each rod, running them in opposite directions so that they cross and interlace. Indeed, once you begin experimenting with lengths of muslin and a horizontal rod or wire, you will find that there is a pleasing variety of arrangements which demand no sewing. The point is to regard your material as bunting rather than as curtain stuff for the moment.

This Girl Will Have LOVELY HANDS

Follow these three exercises, and like the Chinese, you'll have beautiful hands.

These exercises are good for the circulation—no more cold hands for you and no more chilblains!

An important point is, the exercise must be done rhythmically. You'll be very clever if you can do them all correctly the first time!

Why, because she's following an old Chinese custom and using walnuts to exercise her hands and fingers and make the muscles supple.

Choose smooth, round walnuts, and when you first begin, you should oil your hands slightly so that the nuts slip more smoothly.

You should do these finger exercises at any time—when you're reading, smoking, or resting.

1. Take two walnuts in each hand and make them chase each other clockwise round your palm. Then do it anti-clockwise.

2. The same as No. 1, holding the arm horizontally, but without using your thumb to guide the nuts. This involves the hand drooping slightly from the wrist. Then do this anti-clockwise.

3. Hold the hands at a slight slant. Put one nut in the hollow of each palm and one vertically below it in the hollow of the curved fingers. Now bring the fingers towards the inside of the wrist, roll the bottom nut over the top nut, which will slowly slide down to take its place. Repeat continuously.

CONTRASTS IN COLOUR

Hand-knitted "ensembles" for town and country come Aileen Rice. Her cardigans, blouses, and shirts for golf are worked out in three colours. A beige blouse and a dark brown skirt with a single pleat on one side are relieved by the short cardigan worked in narrow stripes of dark blue, beige, dull green, and wine-red. Chamois-coloured wool makes a jacket with four slanted pockets and a belt let into the back, like that of a Norfolk jacket. Aileen Rice likes colour contrasts, and puts a deep blue jacket with a plum-coloured skirt. Her plain knitted dresses have have coloured belts and pottery buttons in interesting shapes. A belt or bright red leather goes with a grey dress which has pottery buttons of darker grey, spotted with clear white. Leather sashes are in fashion. They may be of coloured snakeskin or antelope, and they tie once in loose knots at the waist. Molyneux uses printed silk scarves instead of belts on his new dresses. These frocks have short skirts which are frequently full, with pleated gores and panels. The necklines are high and simple.

Black afternoon dresses are trimmed with jet sequins, with incrustations of broadtail and sashes of silver lame. Deep wine-brown is a new colour for town "ensembles." Molyneux makes coats and dresses to match in this shade. A number of coats hang loose with any fastenings. Their backs are straight and they are of the same length as the dresses. Three-quarter and short-length coats are less favoured. Those coats which are fitted mould the waist-line closely. A long green coat is nipped into the waist with a line of buttons, and a putty-coloured coat has a short belt to hold it firmly in position. Jackets are also tightly fitted and shorter than last season. They close with zip-fastenings and invisible buttons. Coats and jackets have heavy fur collars of astrakhan, beaver, and broadtail. Big muffs to match are carried. Brown furs go with black, and "vice versa."

The slim and graceful evening dresses are lightly draped in horizontal lines. Low-cut bodices are filled in with small gimpes of another material and colour. Dresses with modestly cut necklines and covered backs are correct for wearing at dinner. Slim skirts are of instep length, and picture frocks have skirts which do not quite touch the ground. A new line is developed in the dresses, with long panels falling from the back of the waist-line. They are frequently skirted in at this point and give a line which is reminiscent of the bustle.

The picture frocks have full skirts gathered into tightly fitted bodices, or skirts which are cut in panels and increase gradually in width from very slender waists. A white ottoman dress with a big white chrysanthemum on the left shoulder, and a violet lace dress which follows the same line is worn with a knot of flowers in front of the corsage.

SAVAGE FACE POWDER CLINGS Savagely!

Here is something really new in face powder... something you are sure to welcome. A powder made on a very different kind of base, so fine, so soft, this powder hugs the skin as though actually a part of it. Try it. See for yourself. If ever you knew a powder to stay on so long... and smooth all the while it stays. There's another thrill in it too! The finish that Savage clings so endlessly, also makes the skin appear more truly porcelaine, smoother, more inviting to the eyes. And the thrill that there is in touching a Savage powdered skin could be told to you only by someone who has used it. There are four lovely shades: NATURAL (Peach), BEIGE, RACINE, and (Lemon) White.

PRICES FOR LIPSTICK, POWDER, ROUGE: $75 each.

Sports Outfit

This hand-plucked linen jacket of red, white and blue figures is worn over a plain sports dress of heavy white crepe by Marilyn Vernon in RKO Radio's "Annapolis Salute." The V-necked top of the frock is fastened with three heart-shaped frogs and the skirt has a panel forming three flat plaits.

MURDER MYSTERY AT QUEEN'S

Murder mystery, farcical comedy and brisk romance are combined in the fast-paced film, entitled "Super-Sleuth," which has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day, with Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern in the top roles.

This comedy-thriller brings Oakie to the screen in a "unique vehicle," and offers him one of the meatiest roles in his extensive film career. Cast as a conceited film detective who proposes to solve a real-life murder mystery, the comedian breezes through the picture with a trail of laughs, suspense and thrills in his wake. The story is concerned with a series of murders in Hollywood secretly executed by a professor of criminology who styles himself the "Celebrity Killer," a role convincingly acted by Eduardo Ciannelli.

Oakie's ribbing propensities and dramatic talents have never been seen to better advantage than in this Edward Small production for RKO Radio, while Miss Sothern's performance is equally outstanding as the distracted presagist.

Joan Woodbury and Alan Bruce, two young newcomers, attract recognition as movie star stand-ins involved when a leading-man is murdered by the fiendish killer. Bradley Page, as the victimized leading man, Paul Guilfoyle, as a typical film director and Willie Best as a badly scared coloured valet complete the capable cast.

FAMOUS COMEDY ON SCREEN

With one of the finest all-round casts that has been assembled in a long time, "Call It A Day," the Cosmopolitan production adapted from the successful long-run stage hit of London and Broadway, comes in picture form to-day to the King's Theatre.

It is a delightful comedy-drama based upon the sentimental experiences of all the members of an English suburban family when the first day of Spring sets them wandering along love-paths. Olivia de Havilland, sky-rocketing little brunette star, is to be seen as the daughter of the family, Ian Hunter Frieda Inescort are her parents.

Then there are Anita Louise, Alice Brady, Roland Young, Peggy Wood, Bonita Granville, and half a dozen others who become involved in the atmosphere of romance.

"ME AND MY GIRL"

Gene Gerrard Resigns From Production

Gene Gerrard, the film and stage actor, has resigned from the production of the musical comedy, "Me and My Girl," which opened at Nottingham recently before going to the West End of London. It is understood that there was a disagreement with the co-producer, Lupino Lane, who is taking a leading comedy part in the play.

Jack Eggar, who is presenting the piece, said that it was mutually agreed that Mr. Gerrard should leave the production to Mr. Lane and Arthur Rose, one of the authors.

UNIVERSITY RECTOR FLIES NORTH

"Evans Of The Broke" Presides At Council Meeting

Admiral Sir Edward R. G. R. Evans ("Evans of the Broke"), the Rector of Aberdeen University, presided recently at a meeting of the General Council of the University in Marischal College, Aberdeen, states the "Bulletin."

Admiral Evans flew north from Chatham for the meeting, returning south by air.

It was the eighth time a Rector had taken the chair at a meeting of the Council since its institution in 1860 and the first since 1914, when Andrew Carnegie presided at a special meeting.

Principal W. Hamilton Fyfe expressing the Council's pleasure at the presence of the Rector, said they were fortunate in having a rector who commanded not only the sea but also the air. He was able to reach them from Chatham in just about the time it took them to get to Braemar.

Since the rector had taken unto himself wings, they hoped this precedent would be frequently followed. (Applause.)

TRIBUTE TO PHYSICIAN

Admiral Evans paid tribute to the memory of Sir Ashley W. Mackintosh, Emeritus Professor of Medicine in the University and Honorary Physician to His Majesty's Household in Scotland.

The passing of this outstanding character and great physician, he said, would be mourned by the medical profession, by thousands of grateful patients, by the University and town, and by hosts of friends and admirers from the highest to the humblest among them.

On the question of the secrecy of the ballot in University elections the Business Committee reported that it had communicated with the general councils of the other Scottish Universities.

So far a reply had been received only from Edinburgh. The Edinburgh committee proposed that the whole question should be investigated by a joint committee of three members from each council.

Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald, M.P. for the Scottish Universities, in a letter stated that he had heard of a complaint regarding the greater secrecy of the Parliamentary ballot, and if he could help in any way he would be glad to co-operate with them.

Mr. MacDonald added that he was leaving this country—to his regret, but obedient to instructions—to continue his holiday, and did not expect to be back until the turn of the year.

Principal Fyfe revealed that "Aberdeen University Review" is likely to suspend publication at the end of the session. Graduates, he said, were unwilling to buy it in such large numbers that the committee could not do otherwise than suspend its publication. It was a pity, but he did not think there was any alternative.

DEATH AT 83

Man Who Was Gambler And Philanthropist

The death has taken place in Toronto of Abe Orpen, a well-known racecourse owner, at the age of 83. He had been ill since the Spring, though he recovered sufficiently to work at the offices of the Metropolitan Racing Association as late as three months ago.

Orpen made and lost two fortunes from racing and gambling, then at the age of 87 started to make his third.

He was as well-known for his generosity to the poor of his native Toronto as for his gambling.

In the winter of 1930, he maintained a soup kitchen for many months, paying for two meals a day for 500 men. He gave thousands of dollars away.

His first fortune was made from his Alhambra Hotel, where poker, dice and bookmaking flourished. Orpen once said that keeping a book in those days was "not quite legal; not quite illegal." With his profits he launched out as a builder and contractor, and started company after company, until 1907 when all his concerns crashed.

The second fortune was made in 1916 in his gambling houses and two race tracks, Dufferin, and Kenilworth, but most of it went when the Government closed race tracks in the late war years.

It was not until 1921, that Orpen's tracks were allowed to open again, and he made it the occasion of his greatest promotion, the $15,000 match race at Kenilworth between Sir Barton and Man O'War.

FLOODS WREAK MISERY IN SHANTUNG

Two Million Chinese Facing Ruin And Starvation

Shanghai, Nov. 11. One million people are homeless, destitute and facing starvation, and another million are on the verge of ruin in Shantung province as a result of the worst floods for 50 years, according to Mr. H. R. Williamson, prominent Famine Relief worker, who has just arrived in Shanghai. He says that the floods were caused by breaches in the dykes on the Yellow River, which resulted in the inundation of roughly one-fifth of the province.—Reuter.

POSITION OF HONG KONG

Timely Question In House Of Commons

London, Nov. 11. What is the present position of Hong Kong, the decline in its trade, the number of refugees there and how are they being maintained, and what is the Government's financial position and the economic position of the community at present? These questions were put in the House of Commons by Mr. A. C. Moreing. Mr. Ormsby Gore, who replied, said that the question was most comprehensive and asked Mr. Moreing to repeat it next week, when he hoped to reply in detail.—Reuter.

ROUMANIA'S QUEEN-MOTHER SERIOUSLY ILL

Bucharest, Nov. 10. Queen Marie of Roumania is suffering from intestinal trouble following an attack of influenza. Her two daughters, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia and Queen Elizabeth of Greece are constantly at her bedside. The doctors have recommended a month of absolute quiet. The entire country is grieved over the queen's illness, and prayers are being offered in the churches for her speedy recovery.—Reuter.

FLOOD RELIEF IN INDO-CHINA
Paris, Nov. 10. The Ministry of Colonies has granted appropriations of three million francs by the Government for flood relief in Indo-China.—Reuter.

ITALY WILL NOT REPLY

Rome, Nov. 11. It is learned in well-informed circles here that the Italian Government will not reply to the Soviet's demarche protesting against Italy's accession to the German-Japanese anti-Comintern pact.—Transocean.

MORE BRITISHERS ENTER BRITAIN

London, Nov. 10. Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions Secretary, stated that during the years 1935-37, 25,000 more Britishers entered Britain than the number which migrated to the Dominions. Twenty-three thousand more persons left Canada than those entered.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

TROUBLES IN FRENCH MOROCCO

Rabat, Nov. 10. The authorities in French Morocco are satisfied that the recent disturbances there were connected with troubles in Palestine. It is added that as a result of the discovery of pamphlets and other printed materials the authorities are convinced that the disturbances were fomented and subsidised by a foreign Power.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

MASS PROTEST BY STUDENTS

Japanese Minister Denies Bombing

Brussels, Nov. 11. An reply to the petition presented by students protesting against the alleged destruction of Chinese universities, the Japanese Embassy has issued a communique stating that Japan has done everything possible for the development of humane, civilising work in China, and declares that the allegations are ignoble and ridiculous.

It goes on to say, that the students would do better to concern themselves with the settlement of existing troubles in Europe.—Reuter.

Reuter cabled earlier from Brussels saying—
A demonstration by students outside of the Japanese Embassy was stopped by the police to-day who made a number of arrests, including the President and other officials of the General Association of Students.

The students attempted to form a procession to present a petition signed by a thousand of them protesting against the "systematic destruction of Chinese educational centres."

Another demonstration occurred outside of the police station where gendarmes were called to disperse the crowd.

BELGIAN CABINET DIFFICULTY

Brussels, Nov. 10. M. Spaak has abandoned his attempt to form a Government. He is the fourth statesman who has failed to form a Cabinet since the resignation of M. van Zeeland.—Reuter.

M. VAN ZEELAND'S ECONOMIC MISSION

London, Nov. 8. The Prime Minister, who was asked at Commons about M. Van Zeeland's economic mission, said that he understood M. Van Zeeland was preparing a report which he was looking forward to receiving, but he could not say how far M. Van Zeeland's enquiry has been affected by his resignation of the Belgian Premiership.—Reuter.

VOLUNTEERS IN CHINA

Large Numbers Now Fighting In Many Areas

Hsinhsiang, Honan, Nov. 11. Nearly 400,000 Chinese anti-Japanese volunteers, resembling the fighting forces which sprang up in Manchuria following the Mukden Incident in 1931, are now operating against the Japanese invaders over a scattered area in the provinces of Honan and Hopei, according to reliable information received here.

All of these fighters are able-bodied villagers and farmers in the war areas who have suffered at the hands of the Japanese troops.

They are armed with modern weapons and are reported to be well organised and under competent leadership.

In 10 districts of northern Honan alone there are some 300,000 volunteers who have joined hands with the main body of Chinese troops.

GROWING MOVEMENT
The movement is spreading like wildfire in central, north and west Hopei where the volunteers have assisted the Chinese forces in the capture of a number of towns.

In the vicinity of Paoing there are 6,000 volunteers who are all well armed and organised. In another district 5,000 volunteers are standing by for orders to proceed against the Japanese.

Two thousand anti-Japanese fighters are scattered along the Peiping-Tientsin area and are causing considerable anxiety to the Japanese.

It is believed that this volunteer force will be of valuable assistance when the Chinese armies launch a general counter-offensive in their drive northward.—Central News.

MACDONALD'S PASSING LAMENTED

King's Message Adds To General Tribute

London, Nov. 10. Their Majesties the King and Queen have sent messages of sympathy to Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, son of the late Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

The King wrote: "It is with the deepest regret the Queen and I have received the news of the sudden death of your father, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, by which a remarkable career of great distinction has been brought to a close. I share the gratitude that will be felt throughout the Empire for a life given unsparingly to the service of his fellow-countrymen."

A tribute was also paid to the memory of the late Premier at the weekly meeting of the Cabinet which asked the Prime Minister to convey messages of sympathy to the family.—Reuter.

A SAD HOUSE

London, Nov. 10. The House of Commons was in a sad mood this afternoon at the death of one of its greatest members, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

Feelings of regret were expressed by his bitterest political foes as well as his warmest associates, and, after stirring tributes had been paid to his memory, the House adjourned as a mark of respect.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, moved the adjournment, when he said that assuredly Mr. MacDonald's name and fame would always be associated with the events of 1931. Nevertheless he did not propose to dwell on that phase for the obvious reason that his action then aroused controversies concerning which bitterness had not yet died away.

Mr. Chamberlain mentioned the dead statesman's outstanding intellectual qualities, his physical and moral courage, and his ability to handle international gatherings, although he did not know any language but his own.

GREAT FIGURE

Mr. Clement Attlee, leader of the Opposition, said the House of Commons had lost one of its most distinguished members and a great parliamentary figure. He recalled that five British Prime Ministers had died since the war. He followed the example of the Premier in abstaining from attempts to refer to Mr. MacDonald's attitude during the past six years. These things, he said, must be left to future historians.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal Party, associated the Opposition Liberals with the sympathetic references made by Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Attlee.—Reuter.

TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. MACDONALD

Berlin, Nov. 10. Expressions of the grief felt by the delegates at the Nine-Power Conference in Brussels on the death of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, one-time British Prime Minister, were made by M. Spaak, President of the Conference at sitting.

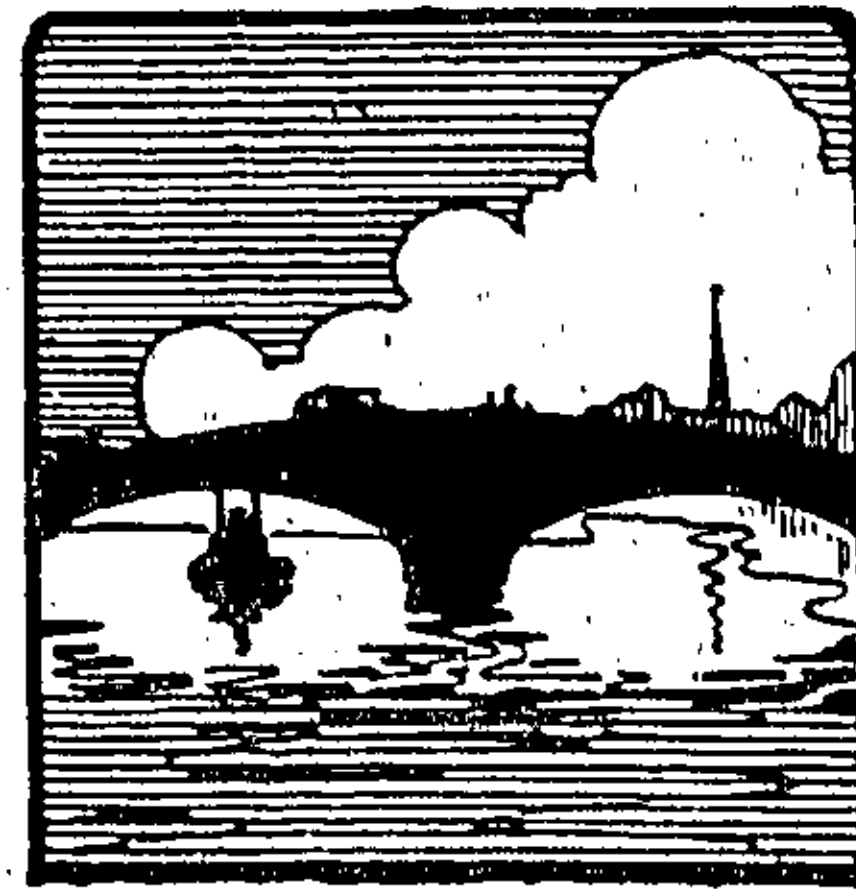

Mr. Anthony Eden British Foreign Minister, answered on behalf of the British delegation, and paid a great tribute to the life and great political work of Mr. MacDonald. Mr. Eden said that when Mr. MacDonald became Premier fourteen years ago he threw all his energies into working for British national interests. As the first representative of the British Labour Party to become Prime Minister, he conducted politics of Great Britain on the basis of national co-operation. When he left the political scene he desired nothing more than that his son should one day also play some great role in British political life.

Mr. Eden concluded by saying that the late ex-Premier's son, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, would be assured of the grief and sympathy felt by those assembled at Brussels.

The conference then adjourned till to-day, after having gained the impression that the Japanese reply to the Conference would arrive late on Friday night.—Transocean.

MORE OVERSEAS DONATIONS
Nanking, Nov. 10. An additional $561,000 was received to-day by the Central Government from overseas Chinese for the relief of Chinese wounded soldiers and war refugees.—Central News.

ROYAL NAVY

CIVIL EMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE

The recent announcement of the appointment to the Recruiting Department of Commander (retired) J. O. Wyatt, O.B.E., will recall to the minds of many retired officers the debt of gratitude which they owe him in a former appointment.

COMPLETION OF THE NORFOLK

H.M.S. Norfolk will be completed to full crew at Devonport shortly for further service as flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Alexander Ramsay, Commander-in-Chief, East Indies. Captain J. M. Mansfield, from the staff of the R.N. War College, takes command of the Norfolk on recommissioning, and Commander J. Hughes-Hallett succeeds Commander G. T. Philip, D.S.C., as executive officer. The Norfolk has undergone large repairs since her return from the East Indies in June. Her first commission, in 1930-32, was spent in the Second Cruiser Squadron, Home Fleet, and the second, in 1932-34, as flagship on the American and West Indies Station. During her first Vice-Admiral Ramsay has flown his flag in the Emerald or Enterprise. The Norfolk is expected to leave for Ceylon on November 10.

EDUCATIONAL TEST

There has been gratifying increase in the number of men and boys in the Navy who have passed part I of the educational test. At the examination in July of 2,326 candidates 1,617 passed, or 69 per cent. At the March examination, with 2,229 candidates, 1,320 passed, or 59 per cent., and in November, 1936 with 1,986 candidates, 878 passed, or 44 per cent.

THE ARMY

2ND BATTALION, THE KING'S REGIMENT

Major E. C. Cross has been selected to command the 2nd Battalion, The King's Regiment (Liverpool) in succession to Lieutenant Colonel J. L. Short, O.B.E., whose tenure has expired.

DIRECTOR OF MOVEMENTS

At the end of March the Director of Movements and Quartering, Major-General W. K. Venning, C.M.G., C.B.E., M.C., will complete four years in the appointment. The year has seen many emergency movements, and it has been a strenuous tenure.

Major-General Venning's successor, Brigadier T. S. Riddell-Webster, D.S.O., A.D.C., is a senior colonel and is in command of Poona (Independent) Brigade Area. He was previously at the War Office as A.Q.M.G. He commanded the 2nd Battalion, The Camerons.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

NIGHT RECONNAISSANCE

The newly-formed Nos. 53 and 59 (Army Cooperation) Squadrons are paying special attention to training in night reconnaissance, and some valuable experience was gained in this work during the recent Aldershot Command administrative exercise.

The difference between day and night reconnaissance were well brought out, particularly as regards the necessity for exploiting the smallest clue to the fullest extent. The differentiation between civil and military movement is an ever-present difficulty during exercises in peace, but the correct use of flares was practised, and ground forces were exercised in the special precautions necessary for the avoidance of observation by aircraft at night.

SQUADRON LEADER FODEN

The new commanding officer of No. 166 (Bomber) Squadron at Leconfield, Squadron Leader J. C. Foden, was formerly in the Australian Military Forces, and had six years' commissioned service before he received his post-war commission as flying officer in 1919.

Sen. Off. Sch.—Col. C. St. O. O. Fullbrook-Leggatt, D.S.O., M.C., from Instr. (Cl. Y), to be Instr. (Cl. X) (Oct. 1).

Sch. of Signals.—Capt. T. W. Boileau, R. Signals, relinquishes the appt. of Adj. (Oct. 1); Lt. J. S. Wise, R. Signals, to be Adj. (Oct. 1).
Design Dept.—Maj. (local Lt.-Col.) G. MacL. Ross, M.C., R.E., relinquishes the appt. of Dep. Supt. (Cl. X) (temp.), and the local rank of Lt.-Col. (Oct. 30).

MEMORANDA

Col. (local Brig.) R. L. Petre, D.S.O., M.C., relinquishes the local rank of Brig., on ceasing to act as Off. Comdr. British Troops in the Sudan (Oct. 10); Capt. F. A. Hopkins, O.B.E. (Res. of Off.), is granted the local rank of Capt., whilst emp'd. with the S. Bde. K.A.R. (Aug. 8); Capt. A. E. Morrison, R. Signals, to be Insp. of Signals, Iraq Army (Oct. 10); Capt. J. N. Slaney, h.p., late K.S.L.L., retires on ret. pay (Oct. 30); Lt. (temp. Capt.) C. P. S. Denholm-Young, R. Signals, relinquishes the temp. rank of Capt. on ceasing to be emp'd. with the R.W.A.F. (Oct. 30).

Y'S MEN'S CLUB

And What It
— Stands For

Although the Y's Men's Club has been in existence in Hong Kong for seven years, and is known for its service work for the underprivileged, the question has often been asked, "what is the Y's Men's Club?"

In view of the fact that this organisation is sponsoring a variety revue at the Queen's Theatre on the 17th inst., in aid of the North China War Relief Fund, the writer was also curious to know something more about the Club, notwithstanding the fact that he had attended numerous functions organised by the Y's men in the past.

Mr. William Yinson Lee, Regional Director of the Club, answered the enquiry by handing the writer a copy of the "Y's Men of the East Review," and a perusal of this well got-up publication gave an insight into the activities of this well-known organisation which are generally not known.

ALL OVER CHINA

There are 15 Y's Men's Clubs in China controlled by three District Governors. Col. J. L. Huang, secretary, to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, as head of the Central District, has under him the two clubs in Shanghai (one Chinese and one foreign) and the ones in Nanking, Soochow, Wuhu and Chungking. The North China Clubs (Tientsin, Peking, Tsingtao and Tsinan) are controlled by Mr. Paul Young and Dr. Arthur Woo heads the South China clubs which include Hong Kong, Foochow, Amoy and Yunnanfu.

All the clubs are carrying out the purposes of the Movement—Fellowship, Culture and Service. The Shanghai Y's men's Club is well-known for its successful drives for funds in aid of its free baby clinic, the first of its kind in Shanghai, established 10 years ago, and caring for more than 60 poor children daily, giving free medical service and medicine, and it also runs two playgrounds for underprivileged children.

FUNDS FOR WAR RELIEF

At the outbreak of hostilities last August, the Club utilised all the funds at its disposal, amounting to some $15,000 to caring for refugees in the Y's Men's Refugee Camp and doing other war relief work. At one of the War Refugee Committee meetings held last August, eight Shanghai Y's men were seriously injured in the bombing of Sincere's department store where the meeting was held, but fortunately all escaped with their lives.

With the president of the club, the chairman of the Refugee Camp Committee and other executive members rendered hors de combat another committee was immediately formed to carry on the work and they are still thus engaged.

HONG KONG'S SHARE

The members of the Hong Kong Y's Men's Club will certainly achieve success in the variety revue next Wednesday as the reservations at the Queen's Theatre have been extraordinarily good. In this connection it would be interesting to note that while most people imagine that the Y's men only foregather once a week for a luncheon party, much work is actually done behind the scenes for the betterment of mankind.

Being convinced that education is the need of the hour, the Hong Kong Y's Men's Club has adopted as its chief programme of service the night school for poor boys. Here they are taught to read and write and also other useful work. Its aim is to benefit as many boys as possible and there are now 35 boys in the night school, and since its inception over 200 boys have passed through.

The other clubs have also been rendering constructive service to the communities in medical service for the poor, free educational centres, free vocational schools, kindergartens, housing of students, public health propaganda, anti-opium clinics and work along similar lines.

The active membership of the Y's Men's Clubs in China is over 500 and this includes distinguished men from every walk of life. Among the honorary members is Dr. H. K. Hung, Chinese Minister of Finance, and the Envoy to the Coronation of His Majesty King George VI.

LORD HALIFAX

Probable Visit
To Germany

London, Nov. 11.

Lord Halifax, Lord President of the Council, stated last night that statements to the effect that plans are being made for him to visit Germany in the near future for political discussions probably arise from an invitation he received through the Editor of "Field" presumably in his capacity of a Master of the Hounds to visit the Hunting Exhibition in Berlin and subsequently to join a shooting party organized in connexion with the exhibition.

Lord Halifax has been considering the possibility of a visit of this kind and if he went to Berlin
he would no doubt take the opportunity of making such political contacts there as might be found convenient.

But he has not yet come to any final decision and the question of making personal contacts with German Ministers, therefore, cannot arise until a decision has been reached as to whether it will in fact be possible for Lord Halifax to accept the invitation extended to him.

友之國中

Hong Kong, November 12, 1937.

CHINA AND PEACE

Instinctively, we thought of Peace yesterday. The pity of it is that, apart from those rare occasions when pageantry in providing to stimulate such thoughts, we give but scant contemplation to a subject which is the most gigantic problem awaiting solution at this very moment: a subject which is more vital to each of us
as individuals as well as nationals than any other. Perhaps it is that we have become ashamed of ourselves at our inability to contribute in any practical manner
to its solution. In shuddering bewilderment we ask and ask again, What is the formula for World Peace? Immediately entire libraries of carefully compiled volumes crowd about us, some arguing, appealing, accusing, disillusioning. Only a very few such volumes approach the practical.

At our very door yesterday whilst we bowed in silence to the cause of Peace, guns were booming, bombs were falling,
machine-guns were stuttering
death, rifles were shattering life.
Is there much doubt that the men in the trenches shared with us a common craving—Peace?

There is no necessity for elaborate pleading for China's attitude in regard to her sincerity
in offering her unswerving cooperation in the blessed cause of Peace. Recall those words uttered with great deliberation and with a complete appreciation of their import by the Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, almost three months ago, "We do not want to fight, but if we are forced to, then we shall—and there shall be no looking back."

Mark well those words, "If we are forced to fight."

On every single occasion when world conferences have been called for the purpose of endeavouring to find a formula for world peace, China has responded with alacrity and behaved with sincerity.
She has trusted others,
and she has been deceived. It is not with anger that we write in this vein: it is with sorrow.
Yet China has not lost her faith either in others or in herself. It is a psychological miracle.

Through the brief silence of yesterday's mourning there came to us those dynamic words of the late President Wilson, "If there is another war then it will have proved that the world is bankrupt
of statesmanship." But, we ask,
can even statesmanship of the most brilliant calibre counter the forces of vanity and greed? We reprobate most wholeheartedly
the dastardly attack upon China
by the militarists of Japan, and we stand aghast at the fiendish methods which they have not scrupled to employ to gain their unworthy ends, but what can be done to stop this rot which is bringing civilization to the verge of collapse?

Every day it is becoming more manifest that the world is dividing itself into two camps. On the one side are those nations which enjoy liberal constitutions
where every citizen is a legislator and may speak his mind at his will; on the other are those nations which suffer under the metallic yoke of dictatorships. The former stand for peaceful

negotiation, the latter for mailedfisted aggression. On this basis, the numbers and the power are on the side of Peace, but, as was the case with peace-loving China,
they may be forced to fight.
If that terrible eventuality should ever happen, then it will be world-war followed by worldrevolution and the consequent debacle of civilization. Every decency will then be swept to oblivion by the hurricane of unbridled passions. The prospect is so hideous that even its contemplation is revolting in the extreme. But so long as vanity and greed motivate nations, then so long is that awful prospect very real and very terrifying.

Japan has it within her power
at this moment to stop the further effusion of innocent blood
if she will but realise that China has as much right as any other nation to be treated with that respect which is due to a sovereign state. Overweening vanity and inordinate greed on the part of her militarists have dragged Japan right to the bottom of the international cesspool. Remove that vanity and greed from the administration of Japan and the root-cause of the sickness of Asia
will have been removed also.

China to-day stands for peace.
Where stands Japan? Her reply to the Brussels Conference will supply the answer: perhaps the solution.

TRUTH IN THE AIR

The public will give the same warm welcome as was given in the House of Commons to Major Tryon's announcement that the Government had decided to broadcast in foreign languages.

He did not enter into any details,
but he said that when they sent out news it would be "straight news" and "not the sort of propaganda which went out from some foreign countries—not to their credit and not for the better information of the people who listened to it." Informed opinion has long been anxious to see effective steps taken to counteract the mischief done by the kind of wireless "news" to which Major Tryon referred with such studied moderation. There have been frequent complaints in Parliamentary questions of the anti-British propaganda broadcast regularly from Bari in Arabic and other languages of the Near and Middle East, as well as in some of the languages of India. At one time the Government seemed to think that this attempt to poison the atmosphere could safely be treated with contempt. When it was alleged from Bari that British aeroplane had used poison gas on tribes near Aden, Mr. Eden held that the publication of the facts of the case was sufficient reply, although few of those who heard, and possibly believed, the original slander would ever be allowed to know of Mr. Eden's denial in the House of Commons.

Latterly however they have taken a less complacent view of the possible effect of this kind of propaganda upon ill-educated and largely illiterate populations.
They have made repeated representations to the Italian Government, who of course control the Bari broadcasts, as they control
every other public activity in Italy.

These representations have not been entirely without effect; but clearly the better way is to provide people in countries where there are great British interests at stake with an opportunity to hear ungarbled news in their own languages. This is what the Government have now decided to do through the B.B.C., and the fuller statement of their intentions will be awaited with great interest. Major Tryon emphasized the delicacy and importance of the work and the technical difficulties involved.
This may be granted, though the difficulties cannot be so very formidable since they have been successfully overcome by the

GRAVE REFUGEE PROBLEM

Three Shanghai
Groups Co-operate

The Chinese and foreign authorities of Shanghai are now faced with a new and greater refugee relief problem as the result of the influx of refugees from the western suburbs of the city. Within a period of three days a total of more than 30,000 refugees, many of them women and children,
made their way from the districts
menaced by the Japanese invaders into the French Concession and International Settlement.

The various relief organizations,
in addition to sheltering and feeding the countless thousands of refugees already within the confines of the foreign concessions, are now confronted with the problem of caring for the new arrivals.

THREE GROUPS COOPERATE

To house and feed this large number of refugees, three groups of Shanghai organizations are making separate and co-operative efforts to take charge of the problems. These are: the Greater Shanghai Relief Committee, maintained by local Chinese public bodies, the International Relief Committee and the various Chinese residents' organizations.

The bulk is being taken care of
by the International Relief Committee, whose aid programme is sponsored and financed by the Shanghai Committee of the International Red Cross. Co-operating with the International Relief Committee are the Salvation Army and the Chinese Y.M.C.A., each of whom are completing plans for opening their new refugee camps
capable of accommodating a total of 8,000 persons.

Meanwhile the International Relief Committee itself is also making plans for using the campus of the National Chiao-Tung University at Sincaw to house refugees.
This camp will have accommodation for some 5,000 persons.

TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

The Greater Shanghai Relief Committee, joint organization of local public and philanthropic bodies, is aiding in coping with the refugee question by opening up several additional camps. Some 4,000 refugees, have already been given food and sleeping quarters
by them.

To relieve the congestion of refugees in the International Settlement and the Concession, the joint Chinese relief organ, together with the various local guilds, are sending a large number of refugees into the interior.

A number of buses and boats was chartered by the committee to transport some 3,000 refugees out of Shanghai.

DOWN, BUT NOT OUT

RETREAT FROM CHAPAI NOT
THE END

Commenting on the withdrawal of Chinese troops from Kiangwan
and Chapai, and the possible significance attached to this move, the
"Central Daily News," a Shanghai contemporary writes:

"We must always bear in mind that the Shanghai hostilities are but a part of the general Sino-Japanese war and, therefore, the retreat from the first to the second line of defence, cannot in any way affect the final outcome of China's armed resistance against Japan."

The newspaper maintains that if Shanghai is lost, it would only mean the beginning of the war,
and that as long as a single Japanese soldier remains in Chinese soil, China will fight to the bitter end. She will not stop her armed struggle on account of the fall of any one city, the paper declared.

Furthermore, in the event that Shanghai and its surrounding areas are captured by Japanese troops, China's financial stability will not be affected in the slightest. Her financial centre was moved from Shanghai to the interior a long time ago.

Continuing the "Central Daily News" stated that regardless of the result of one or two battles,
the final victory will eventually be China's, not only because every Chinese is determined to fight to the last man, but because by that time, if China is unable to drive
the Japanese out of the country,
she will at least have succeeded in wearing Japan out.

"Our strength lies in our vast territory and large population.
These two factors, coupled with the determination to resist, will eventually determine our victory,"
the paper concluded.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS ATTACK AMOY

Amoy, Nov. 11: Assisted by a lone bomber from the air, six Japanese warships launched an attack on Amoy at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Chinese land batteries replied with fierce firing and drove the warships away after a two-hour artillery duel.

TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT

Shanghai, Nov. 11
After a night marked by intermittent exchange of fire with Chinese forces in Nantao as well as Chinese snipers in Pootung,
the Japanese resumed the bombardment of Nantao at dawn,
when their batteries opened up and planes bombed the Chinese positions.

The whole Settlement and the French Concession are at present echoing with the intensive bombardment, in which two Japanese warships anchored near the boom occasionally join. Japanese howitzer shells screaming over the foreign areas with deafening explosions sometimes join in the continuous thunder.

The Japanese intention is clearly to outlast the Nantao defenders, who have no alternative but to be annihilated or surrender to the French authorities.

Meanwhile, it is reported that 18,000 Japanese troops, including cavalry, are moving from Chapai towards Nantao for a determined attack.

Several patrols of Japanese
marines have also landed in Pootung,
and are beginning explorations
and preparations for "roping-up" operation.

MORE JAPANESE 'ALLEGATIONS'

Britain Singled Out

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

"Everyone" of our people feels that the ultimate enemy in the Chinese incident is not China herself, and nothing decisive is achievable unless this ultimate enemy is disposed of. Several years hence the ultimate enemy might cause a more troublesome incident than the present one;
might instigate the Powers to apply pressure; might accelerate the Japanese-Soviet quarrel. In any case our relations with the rival have become exceedingly clear-cut and sharp edged. The name of our rival undoubtedly is Great Britain.

Thus speaks the "Yomiuri Shimbun" in an editorial, which continues: "We consider the present situation more or less related to the question of settling matters with Britain. Then a real chance will be brought about for Sino-Japanese relations."

HUGE FIRES

Shanghai, Nov. 11.
Watchers from the roof-top of Reuter's office can see bricks and timbers flung to the air as Japanese planes power-diver almost vertically to loose their deadly cargoes.

While guns from two warships blaze at point-blank range, levelling buildings on the Nantao waterfront, the Chinese troops holding machine-gun posts there are pouring back fusillades of fire.

Below Reuter's, less than three quarters of a mile away from Nantao, shambles of fresh wreaths lie
at the foot of the Great War Memorial on the Bund—a mounted Angel of Peace.

Meanwhile, Japanese flags are hoisted in every part of Pootung,
where only a few snipers are holding out against occupation by Japanese marines. Here, too, dense clouds of smoke darken the sky from buildings set fire to by the retreating remnants or remaining snipers.

Huge palls of smoke, witnessing
the ghastly senseless destruction,
hang low over Shanghai, and fires
are blazing along Sincaw Creek, causing grave concern to French Settlement authorities.

Reuter.

GRIM SPECTACLE

Shanghai, Nov. 11.
Armistice Day was ushered in Shanghai by the roar of guns, and detonations from exploding shells and bombs, as the Japanese pounded Nantao from land, sea,
and air in a determined attempt to blast out the Chinese forces
there.

Huge fires were started, and the sky became dark as gigantic columns of smoke rose from rapidly
burning buildings.

The main Chinese force held out despite terrific punishment, but about 300 men caught in a barrage which was bombed from the air laid down their arms and entered the French Concession. They were exhausted from lack of sleep, and their faces were grimy with sweat and dust.

NANTAO DESTROYED

London, Nov. 10.
According to despatches from Shanghai Japanese infantry supported by tanks staged an attack on Nantao late to-day. Of about 2,000 Chinese defending Nantao a few hundred fled to the French Concession, where they were disarmed. Otherwise the Chinese troops, who are said to be well entrenched, have suffered relatively small losses by the artillery bombardment. Nantao, however, has been mostly destroyed.

SPECULATION KEENLY AROUSED

Regarding Outcome Of Japanese Successes

HITLER PUTTING PRESSURE ON GENERALISSIMO AND TOKYO

London, Nov. 11. Speculation in political and business circles is keenly aroused regarding the outcome of the Japanese successes in Shanghai and North China.

The conspicuous rise of Far Eastern Loans which was shown to-day, also the steady inclination to firmness, reflects the City's hopes that peace is not far distant. The feature of the Far Eastern market is the absence of sellers. The "Financial News" says that stock is in small supply, and prices moved from all proportion to the amount of business.

It is everywhere believed that Japan, including the militarists, are anxious to make peace, and it is also considered possible that the peace party in Nanking may be stimulated to new efforts by the crushing loss of Shanghai.

On the contrary, it is believed that the Chinese army and people will not hear any terms with Japan, and any movement to that effect might provoke a revolution.

PROBLEMS NOT SOLVED

The "Manchester Guardian" says that the Japanese military successes do not mean that her problems are solved. To go on until the whole Chinese nation is defeated and the Chinese armies broken is a prospect likely to daunt the most warlike Japanese, but it is extremely doubtful, however, whether even Germany could at present find a basis for peace acceptable to both sides. The Chinese army is not in the least mood to accept peace on Japanese terms.

PRESSURE ON GENERALISSIMO AND TOKYO

The "Daily Herald" asserts that Herr Hitler, with cordial Italian approval, is now putting pressure on both Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Tokyo to accept his mediation, and warns the Generalissimo that it is useless to dream of victory or expect help from Brussels, while the continuance of war may mean that Communists will get the upper hand and result in the downfall of Chiang and his friends in face of Russian supremacy.

The paper simultaneously urges Japan to take what she can get now and not to entangle herself in an indefinite guerilla war, which would be dangerously exhausting for Japan and would inevitably throw China into Russia's arms.—Reuter.

JAPANESE AERIAL BOMBINGS

Extended To Interior

Nanking, Nov. 11. Japanese planes have extended their wanton bombing activities to the interior parts of China, the China League of Nations Society informed the International Federation of the League of Nations Society in Geneva in a wire to-day.

Many defenceless towns and villages where there are no military establishments, the wire states, have been subjected to Japanese aerial bombings during the last few weeks. In the province of Chekiang alone 15 towns were raided on October 6, resulting in considerable loss of civilian lives and damage to property.

The wire urges the Federation to widely publicise such atrocities on the part of Japan so that she may be checkmated through world condemnation.—Reuter.

18 JAPANESE PLANES BROUGHT DOWN

Populace Cheers In Nanking

While Japanese are claiming successes in the Nantao area, a reliable Chinese report last evening stated that 18 Japanese planes, half bombers and half pursuit planes were brought down in flames by anti-aircraft fire when they attempted to raid Nanking yesterday.

The populace turned out to watch this amazing spectacle and as the planes fell to the ground they cheered enthusiastically. One of the Japanese plane was found to be a heavy Junkers machine but this was damaged beyond repair.

From the Wushih front it was reported that six Japanese heavy bombers protected by two pursuit planes dropped over 60 bombs on the city doing considerable damage.

Soochow was also raided by ten Japanese bombers and dropped 100 odd bombs and brought heavy damage to the railway station and streets while many bridges were destroyed.

Nantao was subjected to heavy aerial and artillery bombardment and while bombs were dropped on the area visited heavy guns belled to be in the Chapel district shelled the various points of Nantao. Despite this heavy onslaught, however, a Chinese military spokesman states that all the Chinese positions were intact.

The Japanese moved heavy guns right up to the border of Nantao and pounded the place while Japanese warships moved up the river and poured 1-lb. shells into Nantao. Thousands of dead bodies of refugees are being piled up near the bank of the Fen River. Nobody has made any effort to move these bodies. They were shot down in droves while fleeing from Taiyuan by Japanese airmen who machine-gunned them.

Belgium Still Without Cabinet

Buenos Aires, Nov. 11. Brazil is having a new Constitution, after a Cabinet meeting held last night the new Constitution was adopted whereby all public bodies were dissolved and will be re-established. A state of emergency has been declared in the country and all payments of interest on Brazil's external debts will be temporarily suspended. As a result of this declaration dealings in Brazilian bonds on the London Stock Exchange are temporarily suspended.

REUTER'S BULLETIN SERVICE.

M. SPAAK RELIEVED OF TASK

Brussels, Nov. 11. Belgium is still without a Cabinet. King Leopold may postpone asking the formation of a Government until his return from his State Visit to London on November 19. M. Spaak, acting Foreign Minister, has been relieved of the task of forming a Cabinet. He is the fifth politician to be asked to do so since M. Paul Van Zeeland resigned.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

MILITARY COURTS FOR PALESTINE

Government Determined To End Disorders

NO APPEAL AGAINST DEATH SENTENCE

London, Nov. 10. A communique issued in Jerusalem by the Palestine Government to-day states that in view of the continuation of an organised murder campaign it had been decided in the interests of public security to establish Military Courts by the Defence Regulations under the Palestine Defence Order-in-Council. The Regulations will come into force on November 18.

In accordance with this decision, Military Courts for the whole of Palestine, consisting of a President who will be an officer of field rank and two other officers, will be set up for the trial of the following offences:

First, discharge of firearms at any person—punishable by death.

Second, carrying of arms, bombs etc.—punishable by death.

Third, causing sabotage and intimidation.

Sentences of the Military Court will be subject to confirmation by the General Officer Commanding the British Troops in Palestine and Trans-Jordan, from whose decision there can be no appeal.

The Officer Administering the Government wishes it to be understood beyond doubt that these decisions have been prompted entirely by reasons of public security and not because there has been any failure on the part of Civil Courts which will continue to deal with all offences save those mentioned.

The institution of these Military Courts, together with the enhanced penalties, is designed solely to expedite the operation of emergency regulations for the suppression of the present campaign of terrorism and sabotage which it is determination of the Government to exterminate.

Questioned in the House of Commons about the alleged protest by the Iraqi Government regarding Palestine, Lord Cranborne said the British Government had received communications from the Iraqi Government as from other Arab Governments stating their views, which were well-known, regarding policy and action in Palestine. The British Government were responsible not to any other foreign government, but to the League of Nations for their administration of Palestine in general or treatment of Palestinian citizens, but the Government had no reason to suppose that the Iraqi Government were not aware of that fact nor was there anything inconsistent with it in the terms of the communications received from that Government.—British Wireless Service.

ARAB KILLED

Jerusalem, Nov. 10. An Arab gardener was killed to-day and an Arab Sheikh and a Jew were seriously wounded by unidentified men in the Old City of Jerusalem.

Minor cases of shootings and cases of sabotage like cutting of telephone wires were reported from other places in Palestine.

In connection with the killing of five Jews reported a few days ago, fifteen Arabs have so far been arrested.—Transocean.

JERUSALEM CURFEW FOLLOWING MURDERS

Jerusalem, Nov. 10. The curfew has been imposed on the old city of Jerusalem following outrages in which an Arab was shot dead and an Arab sheik and a Jewish labourer were seriously wounded.

APOLOGY TO DUKE OF WINDSOR

A Misunderstanding

Paris, Nov. 11. The Duke of Windsor was invited to witness a parade at Champs Elysees with President Lebrun but expressed a desire to keep the Two Minutes' Silence at an English Church but his attendance was uncertain as the result of certain reports that the Chaplain of St. George's, Canon Dart, had expressed disapproval. Canon Dart stated in the morning that he much regretted the misunderstanding caused as a result of the unauthorised publication of a statement that he did not want the Duke to attend the Armistice Day service at St. George's and that he was very sorry in the circumstances if the Duke decided not to attend.

After the ceremony Canon Dart said that the last thing in the world he wished to do was to publicly insult a man who could not defend himself and added, "I wish to take this opportunity to publicly apologise to the Duke."—Reuter.

LEGIONARIES INVITATION

Declined By Duke Of Windsor

Paris, Nov. 11. Though the local branch of the British Legion had established contact with H.R.H. the Duke of Windsor asking him to attend the Armistice Day Service, the Duke declined.

It is believed the Legionaries are now inviting the Duke to attend the ceremony at Notre Dame at 3 p.m. when they will parade in uniform for a brief service.—Reuter.

Thanking the Legionaries for their invitation the Duke of Windsor states, "As the observance of the Two Minutes' Silence which it was my intention to pass in church with you has gone by I feel it would be inappropriate to be present this afternoon."—Reuter.

JAPAN JOURNAL PREDICTS WAR

Ambitious Programme To Destroy China Foreseen

Tokyo, Nov. 10. Japan may declare war on China unless the Nanking Government takes steps to bring the present hostilities to an end at this time, declares the "Yomiuri Shimbun" in an editorial.

In the case of protracted hostilities, the journal foresees the creation of an Imperial general headquarters, complete blockading of the China coast and possibly expeditions against Nanking and other important cities.—Reuter.

WARNING TO ANGLO-AMERICAN AUTHORITIES

Shanghai, Nov. 11. Japanese officials have informed the British and American authorities through whose defence sectors part of Soochow Creek passes, that they intend utilising the creek to transport supplies to the army in the hinterland.—Reuter.

JAPANESE PLANES BROUGHT DOWN

Shanghai, Nov. 11. Two of a squadron of over 10 Japanese planes which subjected Nantao to a severe bombing between 1 o'clock and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon were brought down by Chinese anti-aircraft guns.

The ill-fated planes crashed in the vicinity of the South Station with the Japanese airmen all killed.—Central News.

JAPANESE "MOPPED UP"

Hanchow, Nov. 11. The batch of Japanese marines who landed at Chuankungting on the north bank of Hanchow Bay, and pushed their way to Sintangchen were reported to have been surrounded, and routed by Chinese reinforcements, who have also "mopped up" other detached Japanese units in the vicinity.—Central News.

MAYOR THANKS FOREIGN TROOPS FOR AID TO REFUGEES

The Chinese officials of the Municipality of Greater Shanghai are grateful to foreign armed forces in Shanghai for their invaluable assistance to Chinese refugees during the withdrawal of Chinese troops from Chapel. Concrete proof of the gratitude of the Chinese authorities was offered in an address made by Mr. T. Y. Chang, senior secretary to Mayor O. K. Yui, of the Municipality of Greater Shanghai.

The British, American and Italian forces guarding posts adjacent to the evacuated areas had given valuable assistance to the thousands of refugees seeking shelter in the International Settlement, and rendered first aid to those wounded by Japanese rifles and machine-guns, Mr. Chang said.

In expressing his thanks, Mr. Chang said, the Mayor was also speaking for the Chinese community in Shanghai as a whole, and he wished that the correspondents present would make known the appreciation and gratitude of the Chinese to the outside world.

Indians Race With Clock

BY NEW L.B.W.

Both the Hong Kong Cricket Club and the Indian Recreation Club, joint Champions of the Senior Cricket League last year, scored victories in the opening series of league games played last Saturday, but whereas the Club's win was clean-cut and with something to spare, the Indians only just got home against the Royal Navy. Actually the I.R.C. won by 50 runs but there were only one or two overs left for play at the end. And at one time they were even in some slight danger of losing, for Lieutenant Blacker was scoring at such a rate that anything looked possible, and Lieutenant Walters, though he could not get the ball past the field in the same way, was batting safely and soundly. Later Captain Whitmarsh hit the first three balls he received from Minu to the boundary, but in between, and after, there were quick falls of wickets.

The Indians batted first and once again their chief problem made itself apparent—the lack of a really good opening pair. The first wicket fell for 11. A. R. Kitchell being bowled by Cotman by what appeared to be a straight-forward ball after only a few minutes' play. Not long afterwards Nazarin played the ball towards cover and called Ismail for what would in any case have been a dangerous run. Cotman fielded the ball brilliantly and threw down the stumps and Ismail was run out by yards. Seven runs later Nazarin was bowled by Boucher and three wickets were down for only 30 runs. However, the Indians rallied from that point and the next two wickets put on 50 runs each. Actually A. H. Madar topped scored with 51 and Minu was next with 38, but the best batting came from A. R. Abbas and M. el Arcull both of whom had 29. Madar's innings was of the stolid, sheet-anchor type, for when he went in the bowling was still fresh after the early failures and he had to wear it down. Abbas, however, in his stand with Madar, was confidence personified and later Arcull showed some of the hitting of which he is undoubtedly capable if he would only leave his nervousness behind in the pavilion. Minu eventually declared at nine minutes to four with 187 for seven wickets.

Like their opponents, the first few Navy batsmen failed, and three wickets went down for only 32, but A. B. Smith and Lieutenant Cotman put on 50 for the fourth wicket. Cotman batted very well indeed, and was severe on the medium-to-fast bowlers, whom he hooked mercilessly, while anything over-pitched was driven past mid-off. Minu kept him rather quiet—but not unduly troubled. He might have been held at mid-off half-way through his innings, but it was a small blemish in an innings in which the batsman was always on top. That he did not make more runs was due to the correct policy adopted by Minu, who kept ringing the changes on his bowling. Eventually, with his score at 53, and apparently set for many more, Cotman hit over a slighter faster one from the Indian skipper and was bowled.

A few wickets now fell cheaply and things looked much brighter for the I.R.C. for round about now I, at least, was of the opinion that a draw was the best they could hope for. Then Whitmarsh came in and with three fours in his first over from Minu showed that he was seeing the ball well enough, even if his ankle was damaged. Incidentally I think the Navy captain committed a tactical error in keeping him back so late. If he had sent him in earlier to partner Cotman, there is no saying what the two of them might not have done, batting the way they did.

At 137 Whitmarsh failed to get hold properly of one from Arcull, and Nazarin, running from cover, took a catch which, from the moment it left the bat, was m'd'on's. It was a good catch as catches go, but it was most certainly not his and I am surprised the Indian captain did not call for mid-on to take it.

Ten minutes was left to play and two more wickets to go when Minu put on Abbas and, as it turned out, he could have made no better move. Without addition to the score Lieutenant Talbot Smith put his foot in front of one of the wicket and Captain Carlass was

OWEN HUGHES AND ANDERSON

K.C.C. Seniors Out For 105

H. Owen Hughes, the well-known Interporter, was in splendid form yesterday when he hit up 128 for the Hong Kong Cricket Club seniors against the Kowloon Cricket Club in a two-day friendly match on the Club ground. The match will be continued to-morrow commencing at 2 p.m.

The Club won the toss yesterday and elected to bat first.

Against the Kowloon attack, the Club totalled 291 for six wickets and declared. Owen Hughes contributed a polished innings of 128 while J. E. Richardson was responsible for 50.

Kowloon fared poorly and when stumps were drawn were all dismissed for 105. A. T. Lay scoring 17.

J. L. C. Pearce captured four wickets. R. Holden three, D. McLellan two and Owen Hughes one.

JUNIOR MATCH AT KOWLOON

D. J. N. Anderson signalled his appearance in 2nd Division cricket yesterday when he scored 103 runs for the K.C.C. against the H.K.C.C. in an all-day friendly fixture at King's Park.

The mainland side won by eight runs. Batting first Kowloon scored 173 for 7 wickets, declared, to which Anderson contributed 103. W. L. McKenzie 24 and A. A. Dand 18.

The visitors were dismissed for 165. G. E. R. Divett scored 43. R. S. W. Paterson 17 and N. P. Fox 22.

clean-bowled next ball, leaving the Indians winners by 50 runs and about five minutes.

Thanks chiefly to J. E. Richardson and R. H. Griffiths, the Civil Service managed to run up 118 against the Club on the Town ground, but it was by no means enough. Alec Pearce came along with another of his fifties and the runs were knocked off for six wickets. I am told that Pearce's innings, was not one of his best efforts, but that he was distinctly unlucky to have been given out leg before to Baker.

At the Kowloon Cricket Club the home team's batting once again showed its unreliability. Four wickets fell for 46 runs, and six were down for 79. G. F. O'Brien could find no one to stay with him but later N. D. Lloyd and young Bertram Lay gave fine support, the sixth wicket realised 48 runs, and the seventh 57 in an undefeated partnership, and Goodwin was eventually able to declare at 132 for seven. O'Brien made 65 and though possessing a strong defence, is obviously one of those who believe that the ball is meant to be hit hard. Ten boundaries, distributed impartially round the ground, came from his bat and there was only one perceptible chance in his forceful knock.

Craigengower were in trouble from the beginning. F. K. Lee, hero of the friendly game between the same clubs the week before, opened with A. R. H. Esmail and was clean-bowled by Robbie Lee without a run on the board. Esmail batted stubbornly but was out to his fatal weakness, indiscriminate cutting. O'Brien snapping up a catch in the slips, Wickets fell consistently and nobody stayed any length of time till U. M. Omar came in and hit up 23. Once again O'Brien took a valuable wicket, getting Omar caught and bowled. Then the end came with A. K. Ismail and W. Hong Sling together and the score board reading eight wickets for 97. A narrow shave for the Valleyites.

On the Army ground at Sookun-poo Recreation made light of the soldiers' bowling but delayed their declaration too long and the match was drawn.

Pressure of space prohibits my dealing with the Second Division games in detail, and I can only make passing mention of the fine bowling of C. Pope of the Police and Pte. Hatfield of Army "A", in the game which the military team won after being shot out for 48.

The Club seconds put it across the Indians properly, the latter contributing largely to their own downfall by some positively dismal catching. Craigengower Juniors more or less reversed the order of things in their match with

H.M.S. Westcott Defeat Nomads By Odd Goal

In a Mamak Hockey Tournament match played at King's Park yesterday afternoon H.M.S. Westcott defeated the Nomads by the odd goal in five after leading 2-1 at the interval.

The game was played at a fast pace. Lt. Cotman, centre-forward, opened the scoring for the sailors within the first ten minutes and in another brief space of time Leading Seaman Garret increased the lead. The Nomads rallied and before the interval B. A. Reed netted.

In the second half the Nomads equalised through R. J. Reed from a short corner but before the end Cotman accepting a pass from the right wing scored the winning goal for the Westcott.

Keep COLD OFF Your CHEST

IT'S easy to tell when you've caught a cold—you keep coughing and sneezing, and your throat is sore. Be sure to stop a cough or cold before it settles on your chest and turns to bronchitis or something more serious still. You can do this by sucking Peps antiseptic, breatheable tablets. Peps give off rich medicinal vapours which are breathed through the air-tubes into the lungs. Peps soothe the throat, relieve stuffiness, overpower cold and flu germs and protect you against infection. Try them!

To preserve the rich volatile oils which Peps contain, every tablet is wrapped in silver paper. They are packed in sealed glass bottles, along with full printed directions and a handy little comb-all day medicine holder.

SCOTLAND DRAWS WITH IRELAND

International Soccer Game

London, Nov. 10.

At Aberdeen to-day Scotland and Ireland played a drawn match in their International soccer contest, each side scoring once.

The weather was sunny and cool with a slight breeze when the teams lined up.

Ireland played clever football, featured by accurate passing by forwards, and maintained a hot pace. The Scottish forwards seemed slow in settling down.

P. Doherty was often in the limelight. After a quarter of an hour, he received a pass from Coulter, ran in and shot from ten yards out into the roof of the net for a great goal.

There was a thrill in the Irish goalmouth when Reid dispossessed Hayes, but Reid's shot was skillfully parried by Breen.

At half-time, Ireland led by a goal to nil.

SCOTS UNIMPRESSIVE

Although McPhail, who injured a nerve of his knee, was absent for a quarter of an hour after the interval, the Scots were the more aggressive side, but their attacks lacked cohesion and thrust, and they could not break down the stout Irish defence except in the third minute after resuming when Walker took the ball up the field, passed to Smith, who shot for goal. The shot was blocked but Smith regained possession and scored, sending the ball to the corner of the net.

The Irishmen lost some of their fire after this and Breen was called upon to hold a fierce drive from Smith.

On the whole, the Scotsmen were not impressive.

BRITISH NEWS IN SOUTH AMERICA

Foreign Propaganda Harms British Trade

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE DEMAND ACTION

Manchester, (by air mail).

The anomaly of British news reaching South America almost exclusively through non-British channels, to the prejudice of British interests, and the urgent need for a remedy of this state of affairs, were emphasised at the meeting here on October 15, of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

FOREIGN COMPETITION AND PROPAGANDA
 The subject was raised by Mr. C. F. Cruickshank, on behalf of the British Chamber of Commerce in Brazil, who said that in the various countries of South America the prestige of Great Britain had suffered in recent years largely through the manner in which affairs in foreign countries were presented to their readers by the Press, and this affected the placing of orders.

"There is, of course," he said, "no scarcity of British news for publication, but it is distributed almost entirely through foreign channels and in transmission is getting the colouring desired by the distributor concerned."

ADVERSE EFFECT ON BRITISH TRADE
 "There can be no doubt," declared Mr. Cruickshank, "that Great Britain has a poor press in South America. This is not because of any fundamental bias on the part of the people of the countries concerned, but simply because their newspapers are more or less forced to draw their news from biased sources."

British news as distributed in South America through non-British agencies was misrepresented and distorted, Mr. Cruickshank asserted, "The effect," he went on, "is both immediate and cumulative, and its chief effect is to prejudice trade relations with us. There is no doubt that this anti-British propaganda gravely affects British concerns in South America."

Here Mr. Cruickshank observed that there were no less than one thousand million sterling of British money invested in South America.

THE REMEDY

"To restore and maintain British prestige, influence and trade interests in South American countries it is essential, that there should be British presentation of British news, and that a strong policy should be adopted without delay. To counteract the tendencies of propaganda of foreign news services it is essential to provide an authentic British news service, giving regular British news of the right sort, and at prices that papers can afford to pay."

LORD HAILSHAM'S VIEWS
 Major W. A. McCallum, of the British Chamber of Commerce in the Argentine, seconding the resolution, recalled that the Lord Chancellor, Lord Hailsham, on his return from his recent visit to the Argentine had said "British news reaches Argentina, one of our most important customers outside the Empire, only through foreign news agencies and often in a tendentious or coloured form. We seem to be taking it for granted that our influence will continue to predominate in Argentina whereas, other countries are paying much attention to propaganda."

THE REMEDY AGAIN
 British industries in South America were enormous. Could British interests be content to allow organised propaganda, giving a lop-sided view entirely unfavourable to British interests and prestige, to hold the field unchallenged? The practical remedy lay in greatly increasing the quantity of authentic British news sent to South America through Reuters.

In conclusion, a resolution was adopted unanimously in favour of facilities for a "British" news service for publication in South America, in view of the distorted news, antagonistic and detrimental to British interests now being published in the press of South American Governments."

NO COAL SHORTAGE IN SHANGHAI

Reports of a coal shortage in Shanghai were denied by the S.M.C. authorities when questioned on the subject by the "North-China Daily News." Most of Shanghai's supply of coal, it was pointed out, came from Chapel, Nantao and Pootung. Whereas supplies in Chapel and Nantao had been depleted, there was still plenty of coal in Pootung, the amount stored there on October 13 having been just short of 300,000 tons.

During the past few weeks, the coal situation has definitely improved, and considerable quantities have been coming in from outside sources. The needs of the public utility companies have been amply met, and no concern is felt by them with regard to a possible shortage of coal. Shanghai manufacturing concerns using large quantities of coal also have adequate supplies, reserve stocks having been laid in. As these firms are not working at anything like full pressure, owing to local hostilities, utility companies have been amply their present needs. The Kailan Mining Administration have been bringing regular supplies of coal into Shanghai, about 1,500 tons having been unloaded here in one week alone. The K.M.A. have facilities for unloading their coal on the Bund.

Pootung stocks have increased during the past month, and at present there is a movement on the part of the Chinese Control Committee to transport these stocks over the river. A coal dump has been established in the French Concession, a second, under the auspices of the S.M.C. on Hankow Road, and a third is being prepared on the Bund for use by the K.M.A. in unloading their coal. In spite of the difficulties experienced in bringing coal into Shanghai, there has been no very great increase in prices. It is also satisfactory to note that there has been very little profiteering on the part of coal dealers.

lands of Romance and Romance. "Down Under" you will find a new being and even if you are not inclined towards Sunbathing, Fishing, Shooting or Motorcycling you will find that the Antipodes have plenty to offer you, including 20/- for your pound.

On the way down your lifeboard will be as you wish, quiet or hectic for the E. & A. will honour your every whim.

And by the way, there is no additional charge for Deck Cabins and there is of course a Sun Deck swimming pool, an Orchestra and a fine band.

A Surgeon and Stewardess are at your disposal and last but not least we had almost forgotten—the cuisine will set you listening eagerly for the Gongs.

H.K. SINGERS RECITAL

Fine Performance At St. John's Cathedral

Mozart's "Requiem," Elgar's "For the Fallen" and the Toccata, Adagio and Fugue in C Major (organ) by Bach, constituted the programme of the Armistice Day recital given by the Hong Kong Singers at St. John's Cathedral last night.

H. E. Sir Geoffrey and Lady Northcote and H.E. Major-General A. W. Bartholomew and Mrs. Bartholomew headed a large and distinguished audience.

Mr. Lindsay Lafford's rendering of the Bach composition was definitely the most outstanding part of the programme. The solemn brilliance of the first movement and the pathetic beauty of the Adagio were brought out in a manner worthy of a truly fine organist. Mr. Lafford should have every reason to be proud of his performance.

The choral work was on the whole unusually good, though the male voices were a little out of balance. Considering, however, that the pieces are not at all easy to sing, it can be said that the performance generally reflected great credit on the Hong Kong Singers.

The solos and quartets were well managed. Mr. Gaston D'Aquino as solo tenor proved to be a great asset to the Singers. The other soloists were Eva Turner (soprano), Gladys Shaw (contralto) and Maurice Barton (baritone), who all sang ably.

Mr. Lindsay Lafford conducted. The Philharmonic Orchestra under the leadership of Miss Prue Lewis, with Mr. Rupert Baldwin at the organ, rendered invaluable help.

A collection in aid of St. Dunstan's was taken in the course of the evening.

STEP FORWARD IN TELEVISION

Entire Cenotaph Service Included

London, Nov. 11

Television will play an important role in broadcasting arrangements for Armistice Day. The ceremony at the Cenotaph will be televised in addition to the usual sound broadcast; and television transmission will include crowd scenes, marshalling of troops, movement of the hands of Big Ben, placing of the wreath by the King and the service conducted by the Bishop of London.

In the evening, the famous war play, "Journey's End," will be televised, and in addition to stage scenes in the dug-out, viewers will see scenes in trenches and no man's land. Films, models and "effects" will be used in building up the atmosphere of the front line before and during the trench raid.

This is quite the most ambitious experiment yet attempted in television programmes.—

EX-AIRMEN MAY REJOIN R.A.F. RESERVE

London, Nov. 10.

The Air Ministry has decided to afford opportunities to ex-airmen to rejoin the Royal Air Force Reserve for four years, during which they will have a short period of training each year.—

JAPANESE TROOPS RECALLED

Hsinhsiang, Nov. 11: A unit of about 2,000 Japanese Infantry, cavalry and artillery men on the Peiping-Hankow Railway front is reported to be retreating northward presumably to guard Shih-chiachuang, the important junction of the Peiping-Hankow Railway and the Chengtai Railway.

Small batches of Japanese stationed at Tsubtsien, Matouchen, Shuangmao and other points along the Peiping-Hankow Railway are being harassed by Chinese mobile units whilst Chinese volunteers are actively destroying communications between Hantan and Shaoh to cut the retreat of the Japanese.—

THRILLS GALORE FOR SOCCER FARES

Civilians Beat Services In Fine Game

(BY "HAS BEEN")

A large and enthusiastic crowd was thrilled by some scintillating and always interesting football in the Charity match between the Combined Services and the Rest of the Colony on the Hong Kong Football Club ground yesterday. The game was one of fluctuating fortunes and though the final tally was five goals to two in favour of the Civilians, the margin in actual actual play was nothing like so great and, at one period the losers were definitely playing the better football.

The Services led two-one at half-time and this would have been three-one, or even four-one, but for some superb work in the defence by Costa, Lee Tin-sang and Parker. The first named in particular was outstanding. Playing at left back, he broke up attack after attack, showing wonderful anticipation and tackling cleanly. Lee was perhaps a little more polished, but his "flowery" work was at times fraught with an element of danger. Parker was an ideal left-half. These three were without doubt the best performers on the field.

During this period the Services attack was positively brilliant, ball control being the great feature. The right flank was particularly active and though the first goal was actually sent in by McGuigan, Pearson at centre-forward and Adams also shared the credit. At this stage the Civilians inside trio were badly shown up and Howlett of the Police in particular made many mistakes. (He was, however, to redeem himself in the second half).

THE PLAY

The first few minutes' play found the Rest attacking strongly and an early goal nearly came when a nice movement on the left wing wound up with Lau Shui-wing taking a pot-shot at goal, which was, however, easily saved by Rowlands.

After a quarter of an hour the Services took up the running and a header from Saw nearly took Sammy Tsang in goal by surprise. Shortly afterwards Pearson shot through a number of players in the penalty area and Tsang was clearly beaten but the shot was just too high and rebounded into play from the crossbar. The Rest broke away and Han Ching-to (Eastern) got through on his own and sent in an acutely angled shot which just cleared the top.

The first goal came soon after this when a combined forward movement resulted in the ball being sent in from the left wing. First blood to the Services.

CIVILIANS SWEEP DOWN FIELD
From the kick-off the Civilians swept down the field and Lai Shui-wing was heavily brought down in the penalty area. He took the resulting penalty. The ball struck the upright a few inches from the ground and was deflected into the net, giving Rowlands no chance.

OFF-SIDE GOAL?

Ten minutes before the interval a pass which originated from the half-back line saw Pearson receive the ball just outside the area, dash in between the backs, with the latter waving frantically for off-side, and score with a stinging shot which Tsang made no apparent effort to stop. Costa and Lee seemed positive that Pearson was off-side but the linesman ruled otherwise and the goal was allowed.

The second half saw a tremendous improvement in the Rest forward line. Fowler, who had taken a very passive part in the first half, now became a distinct menace everytime he had the ball. There were periods when the whole Rest forward line became a unit, the ball passing from man to man in well-planned attacks. These usually originated on the left flank, for Castilho, on the right wing, though fast and a persistent trier, experienced an off day in his judgment of ball distribution. Two attacks on this flank were repulsed but they swept back again, Howlett sent in a beautifully directed pass, and Parker broke in between the backs and scored with a pile-driver to equalise.

Castilho was directly responsible for the Rest taking the lead. He took a pass from Howlett, swung round, dribbled a few yards, tapped the ball practically on to Lau Shui-wing's foot and the latter had only to steady himself and shoot past the helpless Rowlands.

Round about this time the game was nearly all Fowler, Howlett and Lau. Every time Fowler got the ball the crowd tensed, expecting something, and though, of course, goals did not materialise each time, there were thrills galore. Once, receiving a surprise pass from the inside-left, Fowler shot first time—a magnificent effort which was nullified by an equally magnificent full dive sideways by Rowlands.

FOWLER-HOWLETT

Another Fowler-Howlett movement resulted in the former tapping the ball past a resigned Rowlands for four-two. To add a little variety to the next goal Bliss took a hand. Howlett trapped the ball and back-tapped it to Bliss, who sent it a little to the right of Fowler. Without hesitating the latter took it on the swerve and sent in an acute-angled shot past Sheehan, left back, who had Rowlands unsighted.

The last few minutes of the game saw some sporadic attacks by the Services, but mostly it was the Rest forward line that caught the eye. Seldom could there have been a more complete reversal of form than that of Howlett's. During the first half he was out-manoeuvred and even out-classed. In the closing stages he was easily one of the most dangerous men on the field.

It was a fine game, played in a clean spirit. Prior to the start the teams and spectators stood for two minutes in silence in observance of the usual Armistice ceremony.

There were three team changes. Fung King-cheung did not play, Howlett deputising for him and Wong Wing's place was taken by Sammy Tsang. In the Services side Saw (Middlesex), took the place of Tippet (R.N.).

Teams:

The Services. Pts. Rowlands (Army); Pte. Webster (Army); Pte. Sheehan (Army); C. P. O. Jones (Navy); Pte. McCusker (Army); Pte. Spiers (Army); Pte. Adams (Army); Pte. McGuigan (Army); Pte. Pearson (Army); Pte. Saw (Army) and L. S. Wallace (Navy).

The Rest: S. Tsang (Eastern); Costa (St. Joseph's) and Lee Tin-sang (S. China "A"); Leung Wing-chui (S. China "A"); Bliss (Kowloon); and Parker (Police); Castilho (St. Joseph's); Lai Shui-wing (S. China "A"); Fowler (Club); Howlett (Police) and Hau Ching-to (Eastern).
